From the President

Pres. Adolf Aran

“Good governance will reap its rewards. Good governance will be implemented at all levels of our day-to-day decisions. Good governance is that mighty force to get us past our challenges, our inconvenient truth. It will bring us out of the pandemic, towards healing, towards unity.” - Mayor Benjamin Magalong

As we try to take up the challenge of our public servant (written in his business card) and speaker last week, we are constantly being reminded to live our Rotary Club’s 4 Way Test. More than ever, it’s our compelling reason to exist as a relevant club, to serve with truth, fairness and compassion. In 2 words, good governance.

Today, that service is made clear with Rotary’s major advocacy, polio eradication. And we are honored to have Ms Grace Padaca during our club meeting to share with us her journey as a polio survivor, and later on, as a polio eradication advocate.

Next week, before the whole nation commemorates All Souls’ Day, RC Pasig pays tribute to our loved ones, our RCP members, who passed away, via a memorial mass, together with their spouses/widows. Join us in praying for their souls’ eternal rest.

Let’s create more hope in the world, RC Pasig!

Rotary Notes

PP Benny P. De Guzman

There was just a handful who attended the 95th birthday bash of our dear Ka Peping held at the summer house of his favorite son, Ret. Lt. Gen. Jolly who was a bemedalled general and a former Vice Chief of Staff of AFP. Jolly, a former member is married to the daughter of PP Kati de los Reyes. They were the only match amongst the charter members' children. Aside from our Rotary group, his group at CFM and parishioners in Kapitolyo attended. The mass was concelebrated by two priests who were classmates in the seminary.

Last week's meeting showed some lapses which is not new in our club. Some basics must be instilled in our system. The emcee must see to it that all participants in the program are around instead of calling substitutes thru the mike. The emcee must never leave the podium unattended. PP Ogie took the job of our Edgar by handing the mike to his preferred guy. When ex-Rtn Jerry Quibilan was overtalking, dapat he should have cautioned him already. Imagine Jerry getting priority over our members? And taking time. Rtn Raj had an important question via zoom but he was not recognized. It was pertinent to the anti-corruption drive of speaker Baguio City Mayor Benjie Magalong. This no nonsense ex-police general and a magna cum laude graduate of PMA is catching the attention of many as a presidentiable. If his anti-corruption drive will not have kurap and fizzle out.

I had a relevant question as a Baguio investor. Though self serving, it can be an eye-opener for good governance. But I was not given to ask by emcee Ogie. I got the mayor's card and he assured me he will answer my texts or calls. I texted him twice if I can call. No answer. I texted him my main points twice, no answer. Per Rtn Alex who invited him, he will surely answer. Ewan ko.

We missed out on the Double Ten which is the birthdays of PP Peping, PP Topax and spouse Lee of PP Vic Aquino. October 10 was also World Mental Health Day and RI Pres R. Gordon McNally and Dr. Pallavi Gowda, a member of the Rotary Action Group for Mental Health, were to discuss mental health worldwide.

Reminder. Takbo Kontra Polio is on October 21 for our runners and for better participation in District activities.

Next week is our Memorial Day already. Before, it used to be a major affair. After two years of the pandemic and last year, memories na lang. In my list, more than 90 of Pasig Rotarians and at least 35 spouses have gone. Let me name the Rotarians: Doy Aldanese, PDG Mike Ampil. CP Totoy Angeles, Ray Armas, Jess Arnaldo, I.G. Atendido, Obet Barreto, PP Bing Basilio, CM Jun Berba, Rene Berroya, CM Cering Bustamante, CM Doding Carlos, Piling Castillo, Del Catli, Bob Chandran, Charlie Cheng, Alon Chung, Milton Chu, PP Lino Concepcion, CM Wendell Cruz, CM Andoy Cruz, PP Rody Cruz, Jun de Guzman, Paquito de Guzman, PP Tito de Guzman, CM Gus de Leon, PP Tacio de los Reyes, CM Badong de Jesus, Art Delmendo, Rading Dumlaog, Art Dy, HOF/PP Rhett Ermita, CM Benny Hernando, Manny Estacio, Danny Floro, CM/PP Julito Francia, Carding Francisco, CM/PP Johnny Fuentes, Amante Galang, PP Ed Gamboa, Oniot Garcia, Germie Germar, Tony

ROTARY MEMBERS FLY AROUND THE WORLD TO RAISE FUNDS FOR POLIO ERADICATION

John Ockenfels and Peter Teahen's Flight to End Polio took three months to circumnavigate the globe. Getting their single engine Cessna 210 off the ground took three years.

The seeds for that altruistic airborne excursion were planted in 2018 when Teahen, a pilot since 1972, began to wonder if he could fly his plane around the world. He broached the topic with his wife, Janet. She encouraged her husband, a member of the Rotary Club of Cedar Rapids West, Iowa, USA, to look into the possibility, fully expecting (or so Teahen suspects) that he would likely soon lose interest.

To Janet's surprise, her husband pursued the idea and, after several months of careful study, concluded that the flight was feasible. Janet tried a different approach: "You can't go," she insisted, "unless you find somebody as crazy as you to go along with you."

Which, again to her surprise, Teahen did. Janet had a cousin, John Ockenfels, about whom Teahen basically knew only two things: A member of the Rotary Club of Iowa City A.M., Iowa, USA, Ockenfels was a former district governor — and he owned three planes, which, in Teahen's estimation, already qualified Ockenfels as crazy.

The two men met and talked at length about Teahen's plan to fly around the world. At the end of their conversation, Teahen (as Ockenfels tells the story) “looks over and says, ‘You know, you could join me if you wanted to.’”

“The little kid inside of me was jumping up and down and doing the Snoopy dance, going, ‘Oh, this would be cool,’” recalls Ockenfels. “But this older guy on the outside that’s seen a few things in life and knew what something like this entails said, ‘I’ll get back to you.’” Besides, before he committed to making the flight, Ockenfels wanted to talk with his wife, Deb.

A few weeks passed. By then, Ockenfels had decided to make the flight, yet he’d never told Deb anything. That is, until one morning when Janet Teahen arrived unexpectedly at the restaurant where Ockenfels and his wife were about to have breakfast. “In the next 10 minutes, my wife learned everything about the trip,” Ockenfels explains. “She was very supportive right from the start. As a matter of fact, both our spouses have been very supportive once we got going on it.”

As the two men made their plans, they added a fundraising component to the trip. “Humanitarian and charitable works are a big part of our lives,” says Teahen. “So we decided to make the flight to eradicate polio.” To encourage donations, the men made it clear from the start that they would pay for the trip (which ultimately cost about $100,000). All money raised to end polio would go directly to The Rotary Foundation, where every dollar donated would be matched by a two-dollar contribution from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

Plans in place, Teahen and Ockenfels scheduled their departure for March 2020. “We were 10 days from taking off,” says Teahen, “when COVID shut down the world.” Assuming, like so many others, that everything would soon return to normal, they rescheduled their departure for the fall — and then for 2021.

When it looked like they would finally launch in 2022, Russia invaded Ukraine. The men had planned to follow the commonly traveled northern route around the world, which would have taken them over Russia. Now, unable to fly over Russian airspace, they decided to attempt the more difficult southern route they had initially rejected. “It was too dangerous, it was too long, it was impossible to get fuel, it couldn’t be done,” says Ockenfels. And now he and Teahen made plans to do it.

Thy had originally intended to fly Teahen’s Piper Lance airplane. “We had a discussion,” says Ockenfels, “and we agreed that we needed a bigger, better airplane,” the Cessna 210. To afford the new plane, Teahen sold his Piper and Ockenfels sold one of his planes. They spent the next few months modifying the Cessna so it would be better equipped to make the flight. Among other logistical details, they made arrangements to ensure that fuel would be ready for them where it was needed.

On 5 May in Cedar Rapids, Teahen and Ockenfels announced that, with matching funds from the Gates Foundation, they had already raised US$1 million to help eradicate polio. And then the two men climbed into the Cessna — designated N732WP — lifted into the air, and headed east on their crazy, improbable journey. “John turned 71 on this trip, and I turned 70,” says Teahen. “We’re old, but we’re still wild.”

Over the next 12 weeks, N732WP would make 37 stops in 19 countries. There would be tough times — Ockenfels spent several days flying solo while Teahen recovered in hospital from a nasty intestinal ailment — and tense moments: an electrical failure over the Pacific (which was repaired after a 90-minute return flight to Brisbane, Australia) and an encounter with a squadron of armed soldiers when the plane arrived in Karachi, Pakistan. “I looked at Peter and wondered, Do we put our hands up or wave hello?” remembers Ockenfels, “Turns out, they were just as curious to see the airplane as everybody else.”

Later in Karachi, the two men attended a press conference. “One of the reporters threw a softball question to Peter,” recalls Ockenfels. ““Do you still have hopes that we’ll soon have an end to polio in this area?””

Teahen paused and then replied: “No, I don’t have hope that we’re going to end polio. I don’t hope — I believe we’re going to end polio. And that’s what we need to start talking about.” On 30 July, after traveling about 26,000 miles, Teahen and Ockenfels landed safely at the Eastern Iowa Airport in Cedar Rapids. Along the course of their flight, they had participated in another 24 fundraisers (the money raised there has yet to be tallied). Now, back in Iowa, they were welcomed with a jubilant pancake breakfast — though Teahen had already reunited with his wife several days earlier when N732WP arrived in California.

“I got out of the airplane, and the Rotary guys were keeping me distracted,” recalls Teahen. “I turned around and there’s Janet. We sat there and she just sobbed and sobbed. And I did too because we missed each other so much. Our number one goal was to come home alive to our families. And that’s what we did.”

MARIA GRACIA CIELO PADACA

Stricken with polio at the age of three which left both of her legs almost paralyzed, Maria Gracia Cielo Padaca or “Grace” decided to choose to study Accounting at the Lyceum of the Philippines University to prepare her for a career that would not require so much mobility. She graduated Magna Cum Laude and went on to become a Certified Public Accountant. However, Grace eventually became a very influential radio broadcaster. For 14 years in radio, her voice not only gave inspiration to the people in the province of Isabela but also encouraged them to understand civil and political issues and fight for what is right and just.

In the year 2004, despite having never entertained any political ambition, Grace found herself in the thick of her people’s fight against the ruling political family in Isabela and surprised not only her province but the whole Philippines with her stunning victory. As her province’s first woman Governor, she worked to improve the lives of Isabelinos, specially the farmers. She also formed an anti-logging task force that resulted to the confiscation of 170 truckloads of illegally cut logs in Isabela’s part of the Northern Sierra Madres. In her governance, she focused on preventive and promotive health programs as well as giving more power to the barangays and making bidding processes more transparent and equitable.

In 2008, Grace received the Ramon Magsaysay Award for Government Service, the Asian equivalent of the Nobel Prize. Earlier that year, she co-founded the Movement for Good Governance and Ethical Leadership called KAYA NATIN with then Governor Eddie Panlilio of Pampanga and then Naga City Mayor, the late Jesse Robredo.

In October 2012, she was appointed to the Commission on Elections and served for two and a half years. She headed the Comelec committees on voter education and accessible voting for senior citizens and persons with disabilities.

Do Not Be Afraid

Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid or terrified because of them, for the Lord your God goes with you; he will never leave you nor forsake you (Deut. 31:6).

I once had a chat with one of my fellow priests in one of our regular clergy meeting. Somehow, our conversation turned to our sharing of our personal insights about the Bible and one of its teachings about courage. According to him, the phrase “do not be afraid” was mentioned in the Bible more than a hundred times than the word “love”. What does it mean? He further shared that it simply implies that we must have courage first before we can love others and God because courage is what fuels us to move, to exercise the virtues. In other words, we must learn to assert ourselves comfortably in our dealings with others before we can reach out to them with love, compassion, understanding, or other virtues.

While it is true that humility is the mother of all virtues, courage is, at least to my opinion, is an important fuel to be able to exercise other virtues. Without it, we will all be reserved, afraid, and passive. So we need to be courageous that we may be able to love and understand one another.

Today, let’s be courageous for we are not meant to be afraid always. As an old saying goes: Fortune favors the bold.
