Song of the Day

LEAN ON ME

By: Bill Withers

Sometimes in our lives we all have pain
We all have sorrow
But if we are wise
We know that there's always tomorrow

Lean on me, when you're not strong
And I'll be your friend
I'll help you carry on
For it won't be long
'Til I'm gonna need
Somebody to lean on

Please swallow your pride
If I have things you need to borrow
For no one can fill those of your needs
That you won't let show

You just call on me brother, when you need a hand
We all need somebody to lean on
I just might have a problem that you'll understand
We all need somebody to lean on

Lean on me, when you're not strong
And I'll be your friend
I'll help you carry on

Song of the Day

Continuation 1.

For it won't be long
'Til I'm gonna need
Somebody to lean on

You just call on me brother, when you need a hand
We all need somebody to lean on
I just might have a problem that you'll understand
We all need somebody to lean on

If there is a load you have to bear
That you can't carry
I'm right up the road
I'll share your load

If you just call me (call me)
If you need a friend (call me) call me uh huh (call me) if you need a friend (call me)
If you ever need a friend (call me)
Call me (call me) call me (call me) call me
(Call me) call me (call me) if you need a friend
(Call me) call me (call me) call me (call me) call me (call me) call me (call me)

When Silence Hides the Struggle

Mental health issues don't always come with visible signs.

This became painfully clear in the recent passing of Emman Atienza (daughter of Kuya Kim Atienza) a vibrant 19-year-old known for openly speaking about her mental health journey, yet quietly battling inner suffering.

Her family shared how she was expressive and able to communicate with them, yet the depth of her pain went unnoticed. Emman's story is a reminder that even when someone seems open, their silence may still hide an unseen struggle.

Generations, Stress, and Silence

When we talk about mental health, we often focus on the youth but what about the older generations? Do they not experience mental health challenges too?

Research shows that generational identity shapes how mental well-being and life satisfaction are experienced. Globally, younger generations such as Gen Z report significantly higher rates of anxiety and depression than older ones. In one survey, nearly 65% of Gen Z respondents reported a mental health concern within the past two years, compared to only 29% of Gen X.

The lower numbers for older adults may not mean they're better off it may mean their distress is underrecognized or unspoken.

From the President

Pres. Roy Quejada

Continuation 1.

How Deep Should the Conversation Be?

At a recent Mental Health Summit that I attended- one speaker emphasized an unspoken truth Gen Z doesn't just need someone to talk to; they need someone who truly listens.

It's not enough to ask "Are you okay?"

We must also ask, "What are you feeling or thinking that you're not saying?"

Safe spaces must exist for older generations (Baby Boomers, Gen X) who may have been raised to hide their emotions behind strength, and for the younger ones who often mask their pain behind smiles, humor, or social media filters.

Emman's courage to speak up was admirable but her story reminds us that openness alone is not always enough.

What the Data Tells Us

- Regular check-ins matter. When mental well-being is low, life satisfaction declines significantly.
- "Masked" distress is real. Older adults may appear fine but can be silently struggling.

What we can do about it?

- Encourage intergenerational dialogue and let's train ourselves and our family to recognize subtle signs like sleep changes, withdrawal, or irritability before they escalate into crises.
- Promote a culture of openness. As Rotarians, we can normalize conversations about mental health across all ages.

From the President

Pres. Roy Quejada

Continuation 1.

Maganda tanungin and opinion of ng isa't isa about mental health issues

- Active participation in projects. Take time to share your thoughts and values to ease up anxiety.
- Practice kindness. Be mindful of words; not everyone has the emotional strength to absorb harsh criticism. Use empathy as well.

Within our own families, we live among Millennials, Gen Z, and Gen Alpha generations that experience and express mental health differently. Sometimes, the struggle runs silently across age groups.

Let Emman's story remind us that no matter how expressive a person seems, their deepest pain may remain unseen.

Our shared responsibility as friends, parents, colleagues, and leaders is to listen more deeply, ask more gently, and care more intentionally.

Because silence can hide a struggle... but compassion can help heal it.

Rotary Notes

PP Benny P. De Guzman

This year's Memorial Mass was a poor attendance level one. The poorest in years. This surely lacked the follow up needed. The Memorial Mass was one great chance for our club to use ARAP to help as the ARAP controls the attendance level. We salute two who attended: Ching, the lovely widow of our PP Ed Lucero and former Rotarian Tony whose late dad Rtn Remy Maranan used to be an active member. And two citations for idol PP Celso. First, for bringing his beloved Enya who is still undergoing PT sessions (PT pala is Physical Therapy, kasi sabi ni PP Rel, Pregnancy Test). And for his role for giving the longest fining session in our club as he injected plenty of stories in process and ended fining everybody I think.

Last week, HOF/PP Jess sent as extra food the dinuguan. Many were impressed in the taste. Jess said the secret is in the blood. Akala niyo dugo lahat ng baboy? Mabababoy kayo if I tell you.

Tinig congratulates Albert Xavier Mendoza, the entrepreneurial son of Rtn Roy and the well known Heidi for his new venture as partner of Goxo and also It's chief chef for being selected a Michelin Selected Restaurant.

And the congratulatory messages for Rtn Konsi Simon is outpouring on his newly passed ordinance providing master's scholarship for qualified private school personnel.

Rtn Fr Kell after his memorial mass together with some priests from the Diocese of Pasig is now on a Clergy Marian Pilgrimage to visit major churches in Italy an France .He assured us of his continuous prayers daily. He said he joined our club not for the righteous but more for the sinners. Magbago na kayo. Per PP Rel, magbago ng new partner?

Two were birthday celebrants yesterday, PP Tito with family now in Europe celebrating in grand style and Rtn Roehl, the critical evaluator of all things happening in our country.

With our very efficient Rtn Mayor Vico and Rtn VM Dudut, with Rtn Konsi Simon and lone congressman Rtn Cong Roman, Pasig is doing well amongst the cities in NCR with just 4.3 per cent poverty level.

Pasig is really blessed. And we should continue to pray for our blessings especially to spare us from the dreaded earthquake as the fault lies within our meeting area. Lucky for us that we were spared from major floods and we will continue to be spared as our city is on a mountainous area with solid foundation. If we will have a minor flood, the entire Quezon City and most of the cities in NCR will be with heavier and deeper floods.

A prospective new Rotarian is being sponsored with the name of John Javier. He is shorter than our HOF/PP John but as vibrant. His dad used to be a Rotarian of our daughter club and who was once based also in Valle Verde 1.

The scholarship drive of Pres Roy was not given the emphasis last meeting and his projected big income is for January yet. Usually a major leg sponsorship of a district golf tournament which we will host this January will be big income generator. The call for more participants to be sponsors is on.

Presidential message

Francesco Arezzo
President 2025-26
November 2025

This November, as we celebrate The Rotary Foundation, I invite you to consider not only what we give but why we give. The Foundation is more than a fund for projects. It is the beating heart of our promise that service, rooted in trust and friendship, can create lasting change.

Our Action Plan calls us to increase our impact, and the Foundation is how we make this vision real. Since 1988, Rotary and our partners have immunized nearly 3 billion children against polio. We have committed more than $2.6 billion to this cause, and last year alone we directed $146 million toward the final push for eradication. These numbers are significant, but the true impact is not in statistics it is in the lives of children who will never again fear polio. It is in the hope restored to families and the peace built in communities once defined by disease.

But polio is only one story among many. Each year, Rotary Peace Centers train new generations of leaders who will transform conflict into dialogue and division into understanding. In 2023-24, nearly 100 new fellows began their studies, continuing a legacy of more than 1,800 peacebuilders from over 140 countries. When we invest in them, we are planting seeds of peace that will bear fruit for decades to come. The Foundation also touches lives through district and global grants, supporting projects large and small. A clean water well for a rural community, scholarships for young professionals, medical care in the wake of disaster these are not temporary gestures, but steps toward dignity, resilience, and opportunity. This is how Rotary service becomes lasting impact. And when natural disasters strike, our Foundation allows Rotary to act quickly with disaster response grants.

Walking the Avenues

Our Foundation is not about what we can do alone but what we can do together. Each contribution, no matter its size, joins with others to create a collective act of faith in humanity and in the future.

The last mile of any great journey is always the hardest. We see this in our final steps toward ending polio, in our work for peace, and in every project that seeks to lift people out of despair. Yet every time we give, we declare that our work will continue regardless of the challenge.

This November, let us give with gratitude, with joy, and with hope. Through our Foundation, we Unite for Good, and in doing so, we leave behind not only projects but a legacy of peace, trust, and Service Above Self.

Wheat not Weeds

By: Rtn. Fr. Kell Ortega

Real Worth

What good is it for someone to gain the whole world, yet forfeit their soul? (Mark 8:36).

Honestly, I really crave for power, fame, and wealth. Why? So I won't be anymore be ignored, belittled, or even bullied. However, I asked myself with this: will I be truly happy in the end?

I'm sure some of us, if not most of us, have this kind of carnal desire not because we wanted to be above everyone else but not to be looked down by others. But Jesus offered a different paradigm by posing this question. I believe our true happiness does not lie on our possessions. More importantly, our true worth does not lie in such worldly treasures.

I believe our true worth that is the source of our real happiness is none other than God Himself. He Who created us is the source of our being. If so, He is truly our source of happiness and strength. So let's nourish our faith in Him but obeying every command and teaching of His as stated in the Bible, i.e., love Him with all of ourselves and our fellowmen no matter who they are (cf: Matthew 22:37-39).
