Song of the Day

BAYAN KO

Song by Freddie Aguilar

Ang bayan kong Pilipinas
Lupain ng ginto't bulaklak
Pag-ibig na sa kanyang palad
Nag-alay ng ganda't dilag

At sa kanyang yumi at ganda
Dayuhan ay nahalina
Bayan ko, binihag ka
Nasadlak sa dusa

Ibon mang may layang lumipad
Kulungin mo at umiiyak
Bayan pa kayang sakdal-dilag
Ang 'di magnasang makaalpas

Pilipinas kong minumutya
Pugad ng luha at dalita
Aking adhika
Makita kang sakdal laya

Ibon mang may layang lumipad
Kulungin mo at umiiyak

EDSA People Power Revolution

Nasaan kayo noong February 22-25, 1986?

Nasa EDSA ba kayo? Nakikinig sa radyo? Nanonood sa telebisyon? O tahimik na nagdarasal sa bahay? At isang tanong pa ano kaya ang ginagawa ng RC Pasig noong mga panahong iyon?

Para sa marami, nagsimula ang kuwento hindi noong 1986 kundi noong August 21, 1983 sa pagpaslang kay Benigno Aquino Jr.. Ang kanyang kamatayan ang gumising sa damdamin ng sambayanan. Sumunod ang snap elections noong February 7, 1986. Noong February 22, kumalas sina Enrile at Ramos sa pamahalaan. Sa panawagan ni Cardinal Sin, nagtipon ang taumbayan sa EDSA. February 23 at 24, dumagsa ang milyun-milyon may rosaryo, may bulaklak, may panalangin. At noong February 25, nagbago ang kasaysayan sa pamamagitan ng mapayapang pagkilos sa tinaguriang People Power Revolution.

Noon, ako ay nasa high school pa lamang. Bilang bahagi ng marginalized sector, napakahalaga ng nakita kong rebolusyon. Ibig sabihin, posible pala. Posible ang manalo laban sa korapsyon at abuso ng kapangyarihan.

Ngunit ngayon, halos apat na dekada ang lumipas, napapatanong tayo: nasaan na nga ba tayo? Parang mas naging magulo ang pulitika at mas mabigat ang ekonomiya.

From the President

Pres. Roy Quejada

Continuation 1.

Paano nga ba aangat ang Pilipinas?
Saan tayo magsisimula?

Bilang Rotarians at bilang mamamayan, marahil ang sagot ay nagsisimula sa atin. Simulan natin sa pagsunod sa batas. Pangalawa, sa maingat at matalinong pagpili ng mga lider ng bayan. At pangatlo, sa pagpapakita ng tunay na malasakit para sa bansa hindi lamang sa salita kundi sa gawa.

Ang diwa ng EDSA ay paalala na ang lakas ng Pilipinas ay nasa kanyang mamamayan. Ang pagbabago ay hindi lamang panawagan; ito ay personal na paninindigan.

Mabuhay ang diwa ng People Power.

PP Benny P. De Guzman

Three very important events would show the cohesiveness of our club in major events as we face.

An income generating golf event early next week then our annual Discon and our pride in community projects, the Pagpupugay sa Kabaniyahan ng Pulis Pasig. We always are proud of these events that the entire club would always stand out.

HOF/PP Jesus, a great healer of many is now facing his health concerns. Too much work? Medical assistance and our prayers will always carry him through. Last week, his fining job was well handled by PE Jun. Incidentally, Jun has a candidate for membership in our club. Like him, a widower and achiever in more ways in the field of spiritual concerns and in marketing where his candidate, Max Joaquin truly is well known. The other prospective members were briefed by Pres Roy and Sec John before the formal meeting started last week.

The community singing of "To All The Girls I've Loved Before" was well rendered by Pangkat 5. Not only in the song but the true meaning of every word thereat.

Yesterday, thru the viber, PP Henry was urging Pasig residents to join in an early meeting with our very own Rtn Mayor Vico. Later, he had that corrected as the meeting was only for residents of all Valle Verde subdivisions. About what? Taxes again?

Tinig condoles with IPP Dodie on the death of his father-in-law, Ethelwoldo Fernandez and also to the rest of the family. May they be able to adjust to his passing away.

Our guest speaker last week started asking us to close our eyes for a few seconds before the start of her talk. I thought she was adjusting to the crowd when she asked that to afford us the chance to review "all the girls before".

For a while I thought amusing as many are coming in jackets in our lunch meeting till I myself promised to bring one next time. Or today. Too cold in the mid section and near the presidential table. Early birds are always well placed to avoid the cold air. Small matter but it truly matters for the elderlies. Remember, tatanda din kayo!

I cannot imagine the number of students of the great NU. Even in our club, there are many VIPs identified with the school. I think a long time ago that they have greatly surpassed FEU, then decades ago, the one leading in number of students. The great financiers of the school in a major leap financially may be attracted to get to the best money makers in our country - politics. With their huge bases in many areas, that may be the last target.

And poor country. Rich in many aspects but negated by political realities.

Rotary projects around the globe February 2026

United States

For more than a decade, Iowa Rotarians have conjured up a frightful tradition for people seeking a Halloween scare. The undertaking started in 2012, when the Rotary Club of Eldora leased an abandoned city-owned hospital and turned it into a haunted fundraiser attracting visitors from across the state and new interest in the club. When the hospital was sold in 2023, the Rotarians created a new spooky attraction, an outdoor haunted trail. Costumed actors, including high school thespians, line the half-mile wooded path. “Honestly, the area is creepy enough without any props or decorations,” says Marc Anderson, club president. Proceeds are donated back into the community, primarily to the high school boosters. The club’s dozen members all pitch in to handle crowd control and ticket sales. “Most importantly,” Anderson says, “one Rotarian has to pick up pizzas to feed our actors at the end of each evening.”

Jamaica

Called Jamaica’s storm of the century, Hurricane Melissa swept across the island in October, devastating southwestern coastal communities. “Trees and power lines had fallen, roofs had been blown away, and some buildings had collapsed,” says Dominica Pradère, a past president of the Rotary Club of Montego Bay, one of the worst-hit areas. Two members’ homes were severely damaged, and all were left without electricity or running water for weeks. “Once we were able to communicate, we began to explore ways to assist people whose situations were far worse than our own,” Pradère says. Club members provided relief packages to several communities, working in partnership with the Rotary clubs of Kingston and Ocho Rios, and ShelterBox and Food For The Poor. “Fortunately,” Pradère says, “we have a network of Rotary friends and other organizations around the world who want to assist as we help communities and institutions to get back to normal.”

Hungary

A charity wine auction by the Rotary Club of Budapest-Margitsziget in November sold off over 100 bottles. Local wineries and three other clubs Berlin-Gendarmenmarkt, Milano Sud-Ovest, and Paris-Quai d’Orsay donated signature wines from their countries. The fundraiser’s attendance nearly doubled from 2024 and helped raise about $17,000 for the Fellegajtó Nyitogatók Foundation, which is constructing a residential home for children with disabilities. “We are delighted by the outcome, which far surpassed our expectations,” says Ferenc Szénási, the club president. “It is a great joy to see how the strength of community can bring real change.”

Mauritius

On the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius, Rotarians are helping the country shift from an agricultural economy dominated by sugar to one centered on technology, banking, and tourism. The Rotary Club of Haute Rive joined the Ministry of Education to coordinate a job and education fair to connect job seekers with employers in hospitality, financial services, information technology, manufacturing, education, retail, and other industries. “For many, it was a first-time experience of being seen, heard, and valued in a professional setting,” says Deeksha

Continuation 2.

Bundhoo, a member of the club, which has since established a mentorship program. Government officials lauded the outreach. “The fair represents a bridge between the aspirations of our youth and the evolving needs of our industries,” says Mahend Gungapersad, the country’s minister of education and human resource, who attended the fair with other senior officials and members of Parliament.

Vietnam

The Rotary Club of Saigon International participated in two global grant projects with District 3740 in Korea that have corrected congenital heart disease for 100 Vietnamese children since 2023. The $125,000 Heart-to-Heart project helps low-income families bridge the gap between what the government covers and what they’re able to pay out of pocket. “We chose pediatric heart surgery because, with a relatively small contribution of $1,500 from us, we can quite literally save a child’s life,” says Hoa Nguyen, president-elect of the club. Rotary contributions are matched by the VinaCapital Foundation and the Vietnamese government. The impact on livelihoods is significant, Nguyen notes, as caregivers are able to return to the workforce after their child’s recovery.

Our Guest Speaker

Hon. Gregorio B. Honasan

Senator Gregorio Ballesteros Honasan II was first elected to the Senate in 1995, the first truly independent candidate in Philippine political history to win in national elections. He has been elected senator four times as an independent.

"Gringo" is the eldest child of Col. Romeo Honasan and Alice Ballesteros, an educator from Sorsogon. He dreamt of becoming a priest, then a doctor, but was advised by his father to apply at the Philippine Military Academy (PMA) for a free college education. There, his father said, he would be trained as a cadet and pursue a noble profession as an officer in the Armed Forces of the Philippines.

After a year at the University of the Philippines- Diliman, Honasan entered the PMA in 1967, topping some 10,000 applicants during the entrance exam. He was elected President of his class for four years until he graduated in 1971 as Class Baron or First Captain, the highest leadership and aggregate award given by the institution. He was also a contender for the Master of the Sword Award, the highest honor for athletics and physical fitness, after setting records in gymnastics and combat sports.

As a lieutenant in the Armed Forces of the Philippines, Honasan was immediately deployed to Northern Luzon and Mindanao against various armed groups, including communist rebels, secessionists, criminals, and terrorists. Leading from the front by example, he was wounded several times in combat.

Honasan earned recognition for gallantry in action, and received three of the nation's second highest military medals: the Distinguished Conduct Star, and three Gold Cross Medals and Wounded Personnel Medals for wounds sustained in combat. The Philippine Jaycees named him one of the Ten Outstanding Young Men in 1985 for military service, only the second soldier in the country's history to earn the award.

At age 35, he became the youngest officer in the history of the Armed Forces at that time to be promoted to full colonel. He was also handpicked to serve as aide to the Secretary of National Defense, and later, as Chief of Security. In 1981, he earned his Master's Degree from the Asian Institute of Management (AIM), where he graduated with distinction for his thesis on management research report.

Honasan played a key role in the 1986 EDSA People Power Revolution that ended the authoritarian rule of President Ferdinand E. Marcos. He rose to prominence as one of the leaders of a group of young, idealistic officers known as the Reform the Armed Forces Movement (RAM), who believed that the President had health problems making him lose effective control over governance, and the moral ascendancy to lead the nation. The net effect was the unwarranted loss of innocent lives, destruction of property and curtailment of liberty. Their withdrawal of support was a decisive element in the triumph of the historic revolt.

During President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo's administration, he was accused of masterminding the Oakwood mutiny led by a new generation of young reformist officers in the Armed Forces. He was accused of fomenting a military uprising, a charge later dismissed by the courts.

His entry into the Philippine Senate marked Honasan's evolution from rebel-soldier to statesman. He has since been a consistent advocate of a proactive government that would address poverty, homelessness, hunger, ignorance, social injustice, deeper forms of violence, divisive partisan politics, and uphold national sovereignty and ensure national security.

His landmark contributions to legislation include the Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Act, Solid Waste Management Act, Increasing the Monthly Old-age Pension of Senior Veterans and Increasing the Base Pay of Military and Uniformed Personnel in the Government. He is the main proponent of the National Security Policy, Freedom of Information or People's Ownership of Government Information (POGI) Bill, National Land Use Policy, and proposed a Mini Marshall Plan for peace and development in Mindanao. He also supported the proposed amendments to the Human Security Act.

He has authored and co-authored vital laws passed in the Senate on Strengthening the Dangerous Drugs Act,

Our Guest Speaker

Continuation 3.

Comprehensive Firearms and Ammunition Regulation, Stiffer Penalties for the Illegal Possession of Explosives.

Honasan filed several bills that focused on National Security, Intelligence Reform, Land Use, Agrarian Reform, Public Order, and Lasting Peace through a Comprehensive Long-Term National Peace Policy.

In the Senate's Centennial Year, Honasan was elected Assistant Majority Leader of the Senate, Member of the Commission on Appointments, and Assistant Majority Leader, and Chairman of two major Senate Committees—National Defense and Security, and Peace, Unification, and Reconciliation, and Chairman of the Select Oversight Committee on Intelligence Funds as well as the Ad Hoc Committee on the Marawi Reconstruction and Rehabilitation. Other Chairmanships he held as a four-term senator for 20 years were the Committees on Energy, Labor, Environment, Agrarian Reform, Sports, Public Information and Mass Media, Public Order and Dangerous Drugs.

On July 1, 2019, Honasan was appointed as Secretary of the Department of Information and Communications Technology.

A progressive but low-key political career notwithstanding, Honasan remains a soldier at heart. He has been called a rebel, revolutionary, reformist, and destabilizer, among other less flattering labels. But he is, in his own words, “just an ordinary professional soldier thrust into extraordinary circumstances.” He has been happily married for the last 52 years to Jane Umali Honasan with whom he has 5 gifted children and 5 grandchildren, all potentially much better versions of himself. Among his greatest achievements, he believes, are being a husband for 52 years, a father for 51 years, and a grandfather for 18 years.

Honasan believes in the ancient definition of heroism: when good people, from all walks of life work TOGETHER, sacrifice and help build for the next generation. He is convinced that the Philippines is a nation of heroes. After he has done his duty in this lifetime, he would like history to remember him less as a personality, and more for his family and children, and the brotherhood of men that he was part of. Our greatest legacy, he believes, will be our most precious, strategic and renewable resource: our next generation of citizens and leaders - our CHILDREN.
