Invocation

O God, all-powerful... Give me justice, to submit to Thee... Grant me to confess truly my faults; to bear with equanimity the pains and evils which I suffer. Let my tongue be restrained from my vain words, my feet from going astray, my eyes from seeking after vain objects, my ears from listening to much news. May I humbly incline my countenance, and raise my spirit to Heaven. Amen.

- St. Thomas Aquinas Amen.

From: Rtn. Fr. Kell Ortega

Song of the Day

HERE COMES THE SUN

Song by the Beatles

Here comes the sun, doo-doo-doo
Here comes the sun
And I say, "It's all right"

Little darlin'
It's been a long, cold, lonely winter
Little darlin'
It feels like years since it's been here

Here comes the sun, doo-doo-do
Here comes the sun
And I say, "It's all right"

Little darlin'
The smile's returning to the faces
Little darlin'
It seems like years since it's been here

Here comes the sun
Here comes the sun
And I say, "It's all right"

Sun, sun, sun, here it comes
Sun, sun, sun, here it comes
Sun, sun, sun, here it comes

Song of the Day

Continuation 1.

Sun, sun, sun, here it comes

Sun, sun, sun, here it comes

Little darlin'

I feel that ice is slowly melting

Little darlin'

It seems like years since it's been clear

Here comes the sun, doo-doo-doo

Here comes the sun

And I say, "It's all right"

Here comes the sun, doo-doo-doo

Here comes the sun

It's all right

It's all right

When Leadership Changes Hands

The recent change in leadership in the Philippine Senate from Senate President Alan Peter Cayetano to Senate President Sherwin Gatchalian has generated discussion on politics. Beyond politics, however, it offers lessons that are relevant to all of us as leaders, citizens, and Rotarians.

1. Leadership Is Temporary

Positions change hands. What matters is not how long we hold a title, but how well we serve while entrusted with it. (In this recent scenario - ilang araw lang)

2. Trust Is the Real Source of Influence

The transition occurred because support shifted. Leadership is sustained not by authority alone, but by the trust and confidence of others. (Sa iba balimbing, Sa iba proteksyon, pwede rin naman para sa mamamayan)

3. Institutions Must Be Stronger Than Individuals

Leaders come and go, but organizations endure. Strong institutions are built on principles, systems, and shared values—not personalities. (Sana ang main ay Malasakit sa mga Pilipino)

4. Character Is Revealed Under Pressure

Moments of uncertainty and public scrutiny often reveal the true character of leaders. Difficult times test our integrity and judgment. (Pero Marami pa rin magaling umarte, kaya watch out tayo)

5. Service Must Rise Above Self-Interest

From the President

Pres. Roy Quejada

Continuation 1.

In any leadership situation, people ask one question: “How does this benefit us?” Leadership should always place the mission above personal ambition. This requires a lot of deep reflection; we usually protect ourselves first before anything else.

6. Every Transition Is an Opportunity

Change can create uncertainty, but it also creates opportunities for renewal, improvement, and new perspectives.

As Rotarians, we experience leadership transitions every year. We elect new officers, welcome new leaders, and pass the baton to the next leadership team. These transitions remind us that while titles are temporary, values endure.

As our Rotary year draws to a close, perhaps the most important question is not what position we held, but what difference we made while we held it.

For in the end, leadership is not defined by the position we occupy, but by the lives we touch and the legacy we leave behind.

Rotary Notes

PP Benny P. De Guzman

It is nice to hear that all barangays in our city have an ambulance each for their residents for free use during emergencies. HOF/PP Peter had the privilege of this use as he had a freak accident that he is even thankful for. Thankful for an accident? Yes! Because at his being an Octogenarian as what PRID calls this group, a bad fall had a minor effect that did not require casting. Trauma lang but okay siya. He can still edit my rush work. Rush?

Ours is not a freak accident but a series of huge medical bills as my spouse needed dialysis. As Dr. Jesse's hospital had that service, I used his hospital first but realizing that his dialysis is across the street from his hospital using the facilities of Kidney Center in front, I thought it would be better at Medical City. True enough, the result was better as Pura suffered a stroke, and, thank goodness, we are at Medical City more than 47 days already. Good breaks but the expenses can be pocket breaking.

I was expecting many oldtimers at the 80th birthday bash of Bridgitte, the Dutch - Deutch spouse of our late member Mike Uy. But woe, I was the only Rotarian that Brigitte must have recalled. It really was a very big affair at Edsa Shangrila, with a live band, drinks, and, even a highly paid Emcee to make a grand program. Red wine and high end steak and show of their 10 grandchildren. Even the daughter and family based in the US came. Brigitte I called Dutch Deutch, is Dutch but a German citizen, when she married Mike. She is new triple? Senior, Dutch and Filipina.

We congratulate HIF/ PP Jesse for Global Grant that he received for our club. It enriched our relations with the Fabella Memorial Hospital and our very own Rizal Medical Center. Galing talaga ni Jesse. The other week, he had to rush to attend to Peter as Peter choked. Nakakadalawa ka na Peter. Ingat.

My dear PP Ner, who like me has graduated from what Raffy thought was still Octogenarians, is now with CM/PP Peping and PP Totoy as Nenegenarian, is out more often now. Because of the heat? No, there is something else that he cannot reveal pa daw. Sex in the 90's? You will be exceptional as we are in the NPA stage. But, stay well PP Ner. Now that Papa Tayengco is gone, wala na tayong papatayin, we must have a good talk on proper aging as we have to be cautious. For what? Any small accident can be more damaging. Spare parts, like for old cars are harder to replace. Some may think this is a joking matter but, prevention is better, anytime.

When PRID mentioned last meeting that he gave his donation for the General Santos and Mindanao earthquake victims, he did not follow up on our club's donation. The death toll is near 70 already, and, the destruction reaching a billion. Aside from our giving, massive prayers for the prevention of a similar one must prevail. If ever, let any calamity be less destructive.

Rotary International Convention draws 37,000 to a ‘magical island’

Members from around the world gather in Taiwan to forge and renew friendships

A thunder of drums opened the 2026 Rotary International Convention’s first general session in Taipei, Taiwan. The rhythmic beats launched a vivid pageant that blended traditional and modern elements to evoke the city’s cosmopolitan nature and Rotary’s global spirit.

As RI President Francesco Arezzo took the stage on 14 June to welcome attendees, he described the experience of meeting Rotary members throughout his term: “Everywhere I went, I found the same spirit. Different languages, different food, different ways of welcoming a guest — but always the same Rotary heart.”

“As we begin this convention, enjoy this city and this magical island. Enjoy the rain. Enjoy this fellowship. Celebrate what we have done. And dream of what Rotary can still become,” said Arezzo, a member of the Rotary Club of Ragusa, Italy.

In addition to forging and renewing relationships with Rotary and Rotaract club members, program participants, alumni, and guests from around the globe, convention attendees will hear from an array of thought-provoking leaders. Keynote speaker Malala Yousafzai is the youngest-ever Nobel Peace Prize laureate and an advocate for girls’ education. Rotary Peace

Fellow Natalie Emery works with the World Food Programme to offer guidance and strategic support to countries experiencing humanitarian emergencies. Salome Agbaroji, a Nigerian-American spoken-word poet, was the U.S. National Youth Poet Laureate in 2023-24.

In addressing the opening session, Taiwan's President Lai Ching-te described the event as a truly momentous occasion. "Special thanks go to Taiwan's Rotary members for bringing the world to Taiwan, and to Rotary International leaders for their support," he said.

Beyond the general sessions, convention-goers will have the opportunity to choose from dozens of breakout sessions. Many of them will highlight how clubs are working in Rotary's areas of focus: promoting peace, fighting disease, providing clean water and sanitation, improving maternal and child health, supporting education, growing local economies, and protecting the environment.

Fighting disease remains in the thoughts of many attendees as Rotary grapples with the difficult final stage of the fight against polio. The paralyzing disease has been eliminated in most of the world, but the goal of eradication has yet to be reached.

"This year was difficult," Arezzo said in his opening remarks. "Funding became harder. Governments faced new pressures. But our efforts on polio do not disappear because the world grows tired of hearing about it. We have to keep our promise to the world's children."

Arezzo described visiting Pakistan to observe Rotary's immunization efforts and seeing a child about three years old who had been paralyzed by polio. She used her hands to pull herself to join a group of children.

“That little girl is why we cannot stop,” Arezzo said. “We must finish because the next child is still waiting.”

Besides providing updates on our top causes, convention breakout sessions will cover many other ways that Rotary members are making a difference in the world. Planned sessions include Rotary Rising: Engaging the Next Generation, Anime Environmental Education: Inspiring Zero-Waste Action, and AI for Good: Empowering Rotary’s Mission With AI.

Using technology to bring attendees together was a particular focus for members of the convention’s volunteer committee. They created an interpretation app to help attendees who don’t speak Taiwanese Mandarin or Taiwanese Hokkien, the nation’s primary languages. If attendees need help finding their way around or communicating with a convention volunteer, they can use the app to instantly start a video call with an interpreter. The interpreters speak English, Japanese, and Korean.

“We designed the app for attendees who have language barriers and need to find where their hotel is, get to the convention center, get medical services — even get to one of the city’s night markets or find a good restaurant,” said Volunteer Committee Chair Michael Tseng, a member of the Rotary Club of Taipei Prosperity, Taipei.

While some committee members were designing the app, others began recruiting Rotary members from all over the country to serve as interpreters. The HOC GO! app is available in major app stores.

Memorial University, that offers college credit in several academic programs and prepares Native American students to succeed in higher education.

Whitney Rencountre II is chief executive officer of the memorial today. He is Crow Creek Hunkpati Dakota from the Crow Creek Sioux Tribe. Because the foundation runs solely on donations and accepts no government funding, partners like the Rotary club are critically important. “As a nonprofit organization, we rely on collaborations and those many volunteers through the years to help us advance the work, our mission, and our dream here,” Rencountre says.

The idea for the monument began in the late 1930s with Lakota Chief Henry Standing Bear, who watched Mount Rushmore taking shape 10 miles away elsewhere in the Black Hills and wanted to show that his people had great heroes. The man he chose to honor was his cousin, Tasunke Witko, whose name translates to His Horse Is Wild or Crazy Horse, a leader best known for defeating Lieutenant Colonel George Custer and the Army’s 7th Cavalry at the Battle of Little Bighorn.

In 1939, Standing Bear wrote to Ziolkowski, a Boston-born sculptor who had assisted at Mount Rushmore, to invite him to take the job. Ziolkowski began construction in 1948 and devoted the rest of his life to the project until his death in 1982 at age 74.

Each year, more than 1 million people visit the memorial, which remains a work in progress. The 87-foot, 6-inch-tall face was finished in 1998, and sculptors are working on other parts of the mammoth artwork, such as the 263-foot outstretched arm.

Theocratic elements in Spanish colonialism are necessary ingredients to an understanding of the impact of Spanish culture in the Philippines.

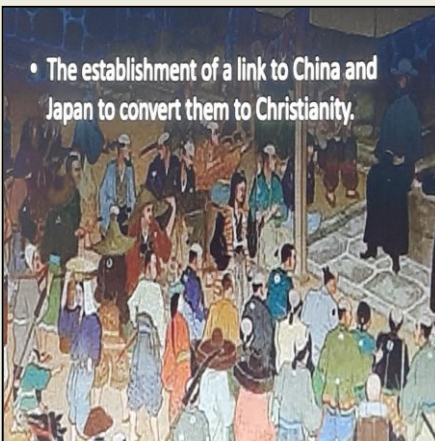

Three reasons that encouraged Spain to colonize the Philippines

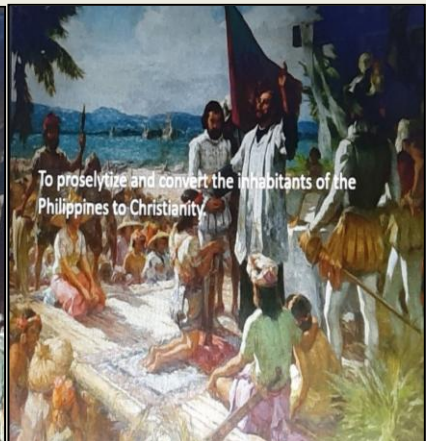

The lure of the profitable spice trade.

- The establishment of a link to China and Japan to convert them to Christianity.

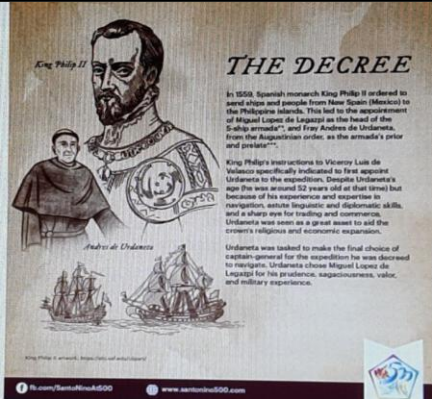

To proselytize and convert the inhabitants of the Philippines to Christianity

Glimpse Our Last Meeting

The third reason paved the way for the establishment of the various missionary orders to the Philippines.

What was the Doctrine of Discovery

- A Papal Bull issued by the Church in 1493, preceded by earlier bulls, regarding the duties of Christian explorers to seize the lands of non-Christians in the New World and to bring them into the fold of Christian civilization.
- Any land to be discovered would become the property of the discoverer's nation.

What was the Patronato Real?

- The papacy granted the power of patronage to the monarchs of Spain and Portugal to appoint clerics because the monarchs "were willing to subsidize missionary activities in newly conquered and discovered territories.
- It granted the Spanish crown vast authority to regulate religious affairs in the colonies, including the Philippines.
- Absolute control of the Spanish crown over church matters in the colonies.

The General role played by the Friars in the Philippines

- Sometimes they were the only Spaniards in the towns.
- Authority in the administration of the colony.
- The keeper of the list of residents in the town.
- He served as the mediator in any conflict even in uprisings.
- They defended the natives from the abuses of the state.

The Manila Synod of 1582

- Convened to find a solution for the critical problems plaguing the colony.
- Slavery
- Preaching in the vernacular/idioms
- Uniform text of the catechism
- Initial vocabulary list and grammar for missionaries

Glimpse Our Last Meeting

Racial Discrimination

- Spanish laws recognizes no differences between the various races.
- Intensity of animosities between the Spanish and the Filipinos.
- "neither a merchant nor an industrial, neither a farmer nor a philosopher"
- "logical that the indians in their immense majority, should receive, from friars and seculars, the epithet of chongos."

Regular-Secular Conflicts

- Secularization
- Political and separatist movement
- 1583 – Parish administration pertained to the seculars. But actual secularization began in the 18th century.
- Issue of Visitation
- Fr. José Burgos "Manifiesto que a la noble nación Española, 1864."
- Accuses the friars "of undervaluing the the capacity and fitness of the Filipino clergy so as to make themselves perpetual curates of the islands."

The Price of Lying

I remember when I was a grade one student, I read one fable of Aesop, "The Boy Who Cried 'WOLF!'" It was a story of a young boy who liked to tell people that a big bad wolf was attacking and eating their sheep. At first, people were alarmed but later on got accustomed to his lying. Yet one day the boy saw a big bad wolf coming aggressively to the sheep in a sheepfold. The boy really alarmed the people in his town that a wolf was attacking their sheep but the people ignored him. In the end, it was too late for the people to rescue their sheep they kept when they decided to see their flock. The boy learned that nobody was to blame for this tragedy but himself for lying. "When we tell lies, nobody will believe us even if we tell the truth" was the moral of this fable.

It will be the same with us, Filipinos. Nobody will truly believe us (except fake news peddlers) if we tell lies. In fact, Prov. 12:22 says, "Lying lips are detestable to the Lord." So if we will lie, God will truly loathe us. So let's all be honest and sincere in our relationship with other people so our integrity will truly shine.
